

IAEA Membership guidelines

1. As of 2010, membership fees are as follows:

|                                 |        |
|---------------------------------|--------|
| Full Institutional membership   | $ 450 |
| Full Individual membership      | $ 160 |
| Affiliate individual membership | $ 40  |
| Affiliate Institutional member  | $ 500 |

2. Advance payment of membership fees over several years results in the following reduced fees:

|                                |                 |
|--------------------------------|-----------------|
| Full Institutional membership  | 2 years $ 850  |
|                                | 3 years $ 1200 |
| Full Individual membership     | 2 years $ 310  |
|                                | 3 years $ 450  |
| Affiliate Institutional member | 2 years $ 950  |
|                                | 3 years $ 1350 |

3. The following payment regulations apply to new members:

- the full membership fees for the year in question are due for new members joining before 1 September.
- for a new member joining after 1 September, membership fees are due as of 1 January of the following year.
- new members who join during the annual conference receive a 10% reduction in the membership fees for that year, as long as payment is made in cash.

4. Membership runs from 1 January to 31 December.

5. Members must pay their membership fees for the current year during the annual conference at the latest.

6. Invoices for membership fees are sent as follows:

- initial invoice sent around 1 October of the preceding year
- reminder sent around 1 January
- demand sent around 1 March

7. Payments overdue by more than one year and not made by the end of the next year's conference, will result in the immediate withdrawal of all membership rights.

8. Payments overdue by more than two years will result in the Executive Committee making a proposal at the next members' meeting to end the membership.

(1) Individual Members are individuals with a professional interest in educational assessment. Individual members A work in the field of educational assessment, and Individual members B are students or retirees. A student is a person enrolled in a full time graduate degree program as their primary professional activity. A retiree is a person who, due to age, disability or other conditions beyond his or her control no longer holds active employment in the education profession, other than having occasional paid consultancies or teaching on a limited, part-time basis.
